Verbal Description:

Ocarina mouth piece in an unusually crude paste with moderate core in thick sections.

Initial orifice 0.3 width x 0.2 high x ^{1.0} ~~1.0~~ long.

Basal orifice in usual way. Chamber seems hand modeled. Above and to left of mouthpiece (as one looks at it) is a hole to the exterior, 0.3 cm in diam. Exterior not especially well finished. As I have noticed on a couple of other (eg. 423AD/26-1) the instrument that was used to make the initial orifice is wiggled a bit to make the first part of the opening wider than the interior section.
